

Short bio

Ifigeneia Dosi is an Assistant Professor of Applied Linguistics, specializing in Bilingual Development, at the Department of Humanities of the Democritus University of Thrace. She holds a PhD in Linguistics from the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki (School of Philology), along with two Master's degrees in Linguistics and in Teaching and Language Disorders (A.U.Th.). She has taught at universities in Greece and abroad and has extensive research experience on language development and learning in both bilingual and monolingual populations, as well as in individuals with developmental language disorders. Her work includes many peer-reviewed publications, presentations at international conferences, active participation in research projects in Greece and internationally, and the recent publication of her book Διγλωσσία και Διαταραχές: Διακρίνοντας τα Όρια / Bilingualism and Disorders: Defining the Boundaries (Pedio Publisher).